Sailor From Here Dies In California

Richard Nelson Jenks, Electrician's Mate, third class, U. S. Navy, aged 20, died last week at the U. S. Naval Hospital in Oakland, California, after a long illness.

The former Washington C. H. resident, who enlisted in the navy July 8, 1949, became ill last October and has been in critical condition for the last few weeks.

His mother, Mrs. Robert H. Thompson, Sr., lives at 310 Cherry Street in Washington C. H. She plans to travel to California as soon as possible to attend the funeral.

The father, Oscar Jenks, lives in Port William, Ohio. Born and reared in Washington C. H., Richard graduated from high school here in 1949. Funeral arrangements are incomplete, but the funeral and burial are to be held in California.

Klover Kids Meet

The Klover Kids 4-H club spent most of their last meeting counting tax stamps. After they finished counting the stamps, the remainder of the meeting was spent in outdoor recreation. There will be no meeting next week because of the senior 4-H Camp at Clifton.

Truman Prefers Political Expediency First

It is always dangerous to subordinate high and sound principles to expediency. When the expediency is purely political, the danger becomes acute. Yet this is precisely what President Truman has tried to do in the handling of the steel

President Truman has shown himself willing to tie the nation into knots, economically and legally, rather than use the provisions of a law which bears the name of his chief antagonist in the public

Incredible as it may seem, this is the main underlying theme behind the whole steel controversy. Instead of invoking the law established by Congress, the Taft-Hartley Act, to meet the situation, Truman sought to circumvent it. He was told in no uncertain terms by the Supreme Court that it is Congress which is vested by the Constitution with the power to make laws, not the president.

He was told in equally uncertain terms by Judge David Pine of the United States District Court that the president is subject to restraints like every other citizen under the terms of our Constitution.

The Taft-Hartley Act sets up machinery to handle disputes of this nature. No one believes that the process of setting up techniques is an automatic assurance

Travel To Europe

To judge from the demands for steamship and plane accommodations, tens of thousands of Americans are convinced the immediate danger of war is not too great. Europe this summer will draw several hundred thousand visitors. Their purposes are, of course, varied.

Most of these tourists want to spend their vacations in Europe. Some go as students, some on business. But all of them, whatever their purpose, are undeterred by war alarms.

that they will function effectively in every instance, but the law is clear-they must be used before other devices are sought.

This is an election year. With the world in its current sorry state, it ought to be possible for once to subordinate the playing of politics to the exercise of honest judgment and the principles of American

The president seems likely to be forced into using this law, but has wasted time.

Trade With Others

One of the international programs which is proving difficult to sell to Americans is the "buy foreign goods" program. This is designed to bolster the economy of the free nations and, incidentally, to open markets in those lands to American goods.

Britain today is in a precarious condition due to shrinkage of exports. Unless this country buys some of the goods, Russia will, goes one argument.

But when American producers see competitive goods flooding the country they begin to demand that the government apply the provision to raise taxes on imports when a domestic industry is affected. Many of the unions, too, side with industry on that issue. They see in consumption of American goods more employment for American workers.

U. S. exports, in the private enterprise form, have all but disappeared. Other countries are buying products in this country that are not obtainable elsewhere, but in nearly every instance payment is made out of gifts or loans from Washington, D. C.

There can be no argument that foreign trade is in a deplorable state. But many industrialists and others maintain that opening the U.S. to floods of foreign imports is a poor solution for the problem.

By Hal Boyle address and signed only "Mary" came year after year, and I go so I felt I knew the lonely old lady real well. When the letters finally ceased, I missed them for a long time. It was like losing whether death had taken Mary or they had just shut her away. I suppose the most interesting screwball was "Operative X837. He was a distinguished-looking young man laboring under the delusion he was an FBI agent en-

While he was pounding out his report, she said:

Mr. Truman had ample opportunity to do that, but, on the whole, his interest in efficiency lagged when he faced firing a lot of people, who, he hoped, would vote for the party that pay-roll vote served Mr. Truman well; he will not disdain it in

Should the Republicans be elected, the top men will be changed. Such zooming departments as State and Agriculture may find that the new heads want to get rid of personnel trained in the New Deal and the Fair Deal. State, in particular, would get a speedy overhauling. for while a number of homosexuals, Communists and fellowtravelers have been fired or allowed to resign, many in the department would find themselves very unhappy under a tough Secretary of State. would be a low proportion in private industry, in the law, or in journalism. Perhaps that is why so many government officials, in this highest bracket, seek for opportunities outside the government. They regard their current job as a stepping stone and hope to attract attention to themselves so that they may find better paying berths in private industry.

Taking all brackets, government pay is better, on the whole, than teaching, even in universities, in spite of the fact that about 68 percent of civilian government employees earn under $4,000 a year. For white collar workers, this is not too attractive, considering the dog that bureaucrats seem to feel that they have to put on. Politicians argue back and forth as to whether the pay-roll vote is a determining factor in elections. The evidence on the subject is inconclusive. The Dunn Survey of Greenwich, Connecticut, has been making prognostications based on the payroll vote during the past several elections and it has come out rather better than the commercial polls; one the other hand, areas adjacent to Washington, in which many office-holders and their families live, have gone

Republican. It is like Washington, D. C., Republicans who might have been expected to favor Eisenhower because so many of them work in the Pentagon and State Department and such places; yet, they voted for Taft. Maybe, the more entrenched the bureaucracy becomes, the more independent its voting habits, because when the fear of being fired disappears, normal habits reassert themselves. It will be interesting to see what happens this year when the payroll vote can declare itself independent on the assumption that a Democrat may not get it, anyhow. Copyright 1951. King Features Syn.

Diet and Health New Type Dressings For Serious Burns

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN Airplane accidents, explosions and industrial mishaps, constantly call our attention to the great damage and suffering from serious burns. They also point up the importance of a new type of dressing for burns and woundsa protective gelatin-like substance.

So far doctors have been impressed with the manner in which this new treatment relieves pain, promotes fast healing, and prevents infection.

Applied Directly

The substance, known as a casein gel, is applied directly to the burned area. It is then covered with gauze that has been treated with zinc acetate.

As with any burn, sterile dressings and handling are essential to prevent infection. If there is any dead skin, the doctor usually removes it, then applies the gelatin layer with a sterile wooden applicator. A fairly thick layer is applied, followed by strips of the treated gauze. A roller bandage may then be wound loosely around the area.

The gel, which is a protein substance, forms a film that sticks to the injured area. This gives better protection from movements and further injury than the usual pressure type dressing.

A film of this nature also prevents the loss of fluid from the tissues. Such fluid loss normally occurs in burns, but may cause a

Sam And Lew Meet Again In PGA Tourney

LOUISVILLE, June 20-(P)-The golf world, in a nostalgic mood, relived one of the most dramatic of championship playoffs Friday as Sam Snead, defending champion in the PGA championship, encountered Lew Worsham in a first round 'sudden death' match.

There's always drama in a playoff and the excitement of that man-to-man encounter five years ago is fresh in the minds of golf fans because it was featured in an article in a national magazine only last week.

That was the time when Snead, Two teams made up of House the "big" golfer who never has Adio Abe finished second and members will renew a 40-year-old taken the elusive open title, and rivalry in Griffith Stadium. The Worsham, a big, engaging fellow with a crooked nose, a jutting chin the Saunders Mills Stable of Tole- ton Evening Star for the benefit of and not much of a reputation as a do to a season's record of 2:02.2 underprivileged children. Natural- player, wound up in a tie at 282 after 72 holes at the St. Louis Country Club, Worsham won it on the next hole

> "Sam and I are good friends, but I'm going to try to beat the hell out of him," Worsham said.

It takes the edge off all the others; off yesterday's par-burning activities over the sun-baked 6,620yard Big Spring course and off Dute Harrison's stellar shooting that won the medal. Harrison, scrambling and suffering at times, shot rounds of 67-69-136 to capture the $250 medalist's prize after Snead and a half-dozen red hot bidders failed.

Houses For Sale

Modern Home

4 rooms, one floor, gas furnace, modern bath, close to Central School. Owner will take $4,950 if sold this month. This home really worth the asking price.

Mac Dews Realtor

Attorney Otis B. Core

Being the same premises convey-

Being the same premises conveyed by General Warranty Deed of O. J. Ray and Monna Merle Ray, his wife, to Leroy R. Knisley, dated September 25, 1945 and recorded in Deed Book 75 at pages 62-63 of the Deed Records of Fayette County, Ohio.

Said real estate to be sold either in separate parcels or as one parcel including both houses located thereon. Said premises are appraised at four-teen thousand dollars ($14,000.00) and must be sold for not less than two-thirds of appraised value. The terms of sale are: 10% of the purchase price down at the time of sale and the balance upon court approval and delivery of deed.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE-Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's. X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
